3,000 Chinese Renew Savage Attacks On Korean Front

Assault Breaks Day-Long Lull In Red Offensive

Reds Move Up Men; Rain, ROK Fire Halted Drive Temporarily

SEOUL (AP)—The Chinese tonight renewed savage attacks on the East-Central Korean front with a two-prong, 3,000 man assault south of Kumsong.

The attack broke a day-long lull in the biggest Red offensive in more than two years.

The new assault — backed by tanks — was believed aimed at a main Allied highway.

It was preceded by Chinese probing assaults in the sector that began at dusk.

A combination of stubborn South Korean resistance, driving rain, and a blistering curtain of Allied artillery fire had temporarily stalled the massive Red offensive by 11 a. m. today along a 20-mile front.

But an uneasy lull hung over the bloodied Kumsong bulge where more than 80,000 Reds ripped into Allied lines.

As sturdy ROK troops braced themselves against attack in the approaching darkness, Allied light planes reported sighting numerous company and battalion-size build-ups. Some of the sightings were made in the Kumsong River area, where the ROKs withdrew Tuesday to the South bank under orders from Gen. Maxwell D. Taylor.

Earlier today, the Eighth Army commander flew to the front for the second straight day and said the line had been stalled.

Several small attacks by Red companies (about 150 men each) were reported late Wednesday afternoon east of Kumsong in the embattled sector, but there was no major Communist activity before dark, Eighth Army said.

In the air, American Sabre jets shot down two MIGs, with Maj. James Jabara bagging his 15th Russian-built jet to boost himself to within one of the all-time record of 16.

Heavier than usual military censorship in Seoul and Tokyo covered news reports describing the depth of the Red penetration.

Associated Press Correspondents Robert Gibson and Forrest Edwards reported from the front that there was little action last night and this morning.

Heavy rain lashed troops, softened roads and sent flash floods down mountain ravines.

By afternoon, however, the rains ended.

The sharp lull was unusual in a Chinese offensive. It remained to be seen whether it was a temporary delay due to the soggy weather, a genuine lack of Chinese power, or that the Reds were satisfied with their gains so far.

The size of the gains were restricted information by order of the 8th Army. But while solid,

County Health Board To Propose Levy

Dr. Robert M. Dunlap, Columbiana County health commissioner, said today the Board of Health will take action to submit a levy for operating expenses at its regular meeting Monday night at 8 at the Lisbon Courthouse.

The board will pass a resolution asking the County Commissioners to place the half-mill levy on the November ballot, he said.

Needing 55 per cent for passage, the levy would produce about $40,000 a year for five years.

The board is asking for the additional money for operating expenses because the County Budget Commission granted the department only $25,000 for next year.

The department had asked for $27,900 earlier this year but at a budget hearing last month submitted an amended budget seeking $71,376 from local sources.

The original budget totaled $53,500 but the amended called for $93,856. Besides local sources, other revenues are obtained from the state, federal governments, school contracts and fees.

Dr. Dunlap said the board may also discuss possible candidates for two vacancies on the board.

The board will fill the posts vacated when Attorney Lynn Riddle of Lisbon and H. O. Stanley of Damascus resigned.

County Board Okays Merger Of 4 Schools

The Columbiana County Board of Education approved a resolution at a meeting Tuesday night at the Lisbon Courthouse consolidating the Yellow Creek, Salineville, Franklin and Wayne Local School districts.

Meanwhile, the board took no action to merge the United, Knox, and West Local districts after the state legislature failed to take any action on a bill forcing 12 years of schooling in county districts.

Supt. James L. McBride said United Local district will go ahead with plans to build a high school in its district. He said they intend to submit a bond issue to the voters this fall for the building program.

Knox district had expressed a desire to consolidate but West opposed the move.

The merger of the three districts had also been recommended by state officials. Supt. McBride said the resolution calling for the merger of the four southern districts will be published Saturday and then the voters in the district will have 30 days in which to file protests.

After the period, with no more than 50 per cent of the voters opposing, the consolidation will become effective.

The new district will have a tax valuation of $8,500,000 and will have six elementary schools and one high school. The high school is located at Salineville and most of the students in the area will attend there.

The board listed six reasons why it adopted the resolution and announced: "We feel the majority of the residents favor the merger."

Lloyd Farmer of RD Letonia, president, was in charge of the meeting which was advanced a week to permit Supt. McBride to start his annual vacation today.

UCT Invites Lausche, Linzell To Inspect Millville Hill

State Rep. Delmar O'Hara announced from Columbus this afternoon that Gov. Frank Lausche and State Highway Director Samuel Linzell would make a personal inspection of the Millville Hill here on Saturday.

O'Hara said he would accompany the officials.

The County Commercial Travelers united safety committee again Tuesday appealed to Governor Lausche, State Highway Director S. O. Linzell and State Representative Delmar O'Hara to make the Route 14 Millville Hill east of Salem safer for vehicular travel.

Tom Little, committee chairman, said two telegrams each were sent to Lausche and Linzell, two hours apart, and the fifth to O'Hara.

Little also revealed that the 250 petitions distributed by the committee throughout the county about three weeks ago, asking the state to "immediately correct" the Millville Hill situation, are being returned to the committee with "thousands of signatures."

"Many of the petitions have had new pages added and the total number of names is expected to reach many thousands when they are all tabulated," he said.

Little said the first telegram to Lausche requested the governor to meet with the committee and receive the petitions when he attends the Lisbon sesquicentennial celebration July 18. The wire also requested his and Linzell's presence in an auto tour of the "2.9 miles of Route 14 to show you where and how 18 people have been killed in highway accidents."

The second telegram to the governor again requested a meeting with the committee and pointed out "the continuous public demand for action on the 'death trap.'"

Little said that Greenford and Leetonia schoolboards had expressed grave concern on the possibility of a serious accident to a bus load of children on the road.

The Greenford School Board, the wire declared, claimed that insurance companies forced it to pay a higher insurance rate for the bus that uses that hill.

The committee asked the highway department to take action on the hill.

Truck-Trailer Upsets, Spilling Steel On Road

State highway patrolmen investigated one accident Tuesday at 5:20 p.m. in which a truck-trailer outfit ran off the right side of the road, turning over and spilling a load of steel on the highway.

The accident occurred on Route 170, one and one-half miles north of its junction with Route 14.

Patrolmen said the driver, Benjamin Bell, 35, of Troy, declared somebody had run him off the road.

Reds Challenged To Confer On German Unity

Big 3 Calls For Russia To Join Talks In Autumn

WASHINGTON (AP)—United States, Britain and France posed an immediate challenge to Russia today to join in a four-power foreign ministers meeting aimed at reuniting East and West Germany.

The call for a session next autumn on Germany, and on completing an Austrian independence treaty, was agreed upon by American, British and French foreign ministers in a five-day conference which ended with issuance of a communique last night.

Notes from all three Western governments were prepared for dispatch to Moscow within 24 hours.

The foreign ministers also issued a warning to the Reds in Asia that, if they break an armistice with a new attack on South Korea, the United States, Britain and France will again go to war.

Put Squarely To Kremlin

The proposal on Germany represents initiative by the West to put squarely up to the Kremlin—in the face of its internal Beria purge and in the light of anti-Communist unrest in East Germany—a challenge to do something definite about one of the world's worst sources of tension.

Secretary of State Dulles, Acting British Foreign Secretary Lord Salisbury and French Foreign Minister Georges Bidault also called for restoration of "true liberty" to the Soviet satellite peoples of East-

Truce Showdown Seen To Come Tomorrow

100th Ohio Assembly Came To Grips With Five Key Issues

COLUMBUS, O. (AP)—The 100th General Assembly in 100 working days came to grips with five key issues: A record state budget, school financing and code revision. The record of the Republican-dominated Legislature, which ended Tuesday night its regular sessions until 1955:

It adopted a state budget for the next two years of $36 million dollars, more than 10 per cent above the 1951-53 biennium.

It worked out a multi-million dollar highway financing program including an axle-tax on trucks, a penny-a-gallon gasoline tax increase and a proposal to be submitted to the voters for a half-billion-dollar bond issue to speed a road construction program. It also split the highway department by creating a new Department of Highway Safety.

It voted nearly 22 million dollars for welfare institutions, then decided to split the sprawling welfare department by creating a new Department of Mental Hygiene.

It approved a record 236½ millions for schools, 231 millions in a direct subsidy to school districts and 5½ millions for school buses and school rehabilitation. This was another increase of more than 10 per cent.

It adopted, after a seven-week study at the session's start, a totally revised code of Ohio laws.

It killed, or failed to pass, such legislation as:

Fair employment practices. Legal bingo.

A total repealer of movie censorship in Ohio, although it later exempted newsreels from the censor's scrutiny.

Local Greyhound dog racing.

Here, spelled out briefly, are the high points of the major legislative programs:

HIGHWAYS

An axle-mile tax on big trucks with three or more axles to collect a levy of one-half to 2½ cents a mile.

A penny-a-gallon motor fuel tax, increasing the state's levy to five cents a gallon.

Combined yield of the two taxes, estimated at 43 million dollars a year, will be spent by a new highway construction council on main inter-city highways.

The 50-million-dollar bond issue for a speeded-up road building program will be on the ballot in November for a final decision by the voters. The alternative: A pay-as-you-go road building program.

The new Department of Highway Safety will combine the present state highway patrol, the Bureau of Motor Vehicles and the bureau administering the state motorists' financial responsibility law.

WELFARE

The welfare department split is designed to place in the new Department of Mental Hygiene all mental and penal institutions and leave with the present department all public assistance programs.

Early in the session an emergency 8½ million dollar appropriation went to the state's penal institutions. Later, another 13 million.

Thousands Of Scouts Arrive For Jamboree

JAMBOREE CITY, Calif. (AP)—Boy Scouts of all sizes, colors and creeds are flowing like an endless stream from the far corners of America today into Jamboree City, their mecca for 1953.

By special trains and buses, auto caravans and single cars they are piling into this campsite on the shores of the Pacific in Southern California for the third National Boy Scout Jamboree, which opens Friday.

Since the first official contingents began arriving last Sunday this 3,000-acre camp has been growing by leaps and bounds. It was estimated that about 20,000 were on hand this morning.

Twenty special trains were arriving today. Their passengers, plus other travelers coming by other means, add another 12,000 boys to the aggregation. Scout leaders expect almost 50,000 boys and leaders in camp when the jamboree opens.

Arrivals scheduled today included groups from New York, Illinois, Pennsylvania, Wisconsin, Michigan, North Dakota, Indiana, Alabama, Mississippi, Washington, D. C., Virginia, Ohio, Tennessee, Louisiana, New Jersey and Florida.

GOP Solons Study Why Truman Men Still Head Ohio PMA

WASHINGTON (AP)—Republican congressmen from Ohio caucus today in an effort to find out why Democratic appointees still are running an important farm program in their state.

Rep. Brown (R-Ohio) told a reporter the Department of Agriculture had agreed to send a representative to the Ohio GOP delegation's bi-monthly luncheon.

What Brown and the others want to know is why the Production and Marketing Administration (PMA) committee in Columbus still is made up of holdovers from the Truman administration. The three-man committee is appointed by the party in power.

Republicans said a list of Republican recommendations was submitted by Sen. Taft (R-Ohio) to the Department of Agriculture six weeks ago.

But H. Laurence Manwaring, assistant administrator for production in PMA, said the list never could be found, and that his department got a carbon just last week.

"Those names," he said, "are being checked to find out what kind of farm people they are. We also are interviewing people on separate lists submitted by the Ohio Farm Bureau and the Ohio Grange."

Rep. Frances P. Bolton said most of the Ohio Republican congressmen were thoroughly disturbed over the situation, including the current elections now being held in every Ohio county for township and county PMA committeemen.

The Republicans here call this a "rush" election by Democratic committeemen to get themselves reelected for another year.

"But it's too late to do anything about that now," said Mrs. Bolton. "The elections are almost over."

"I talked this whole matter over with Secretary of Agriculture Benson. I don't like to criticize a member of President Eisenhower's cabinet, but I must say he walked around the roseberry bush and gave me no real explanation."

The agreements require that a political conference be called within 90 days after a truce is signed. The conference would be aimed towards peaceful settlement of the Korean War.

At the end of another 90 days after the conference is called, the situation is to be reappraised. If it should develop that the Communists had used the talks to stall and infiltrate South Korea with subversives, the United States and South Korea agree to walk out of the conference together and determine what to do next.

Secret Session Will Make Or Break Talks

Official Source Sees Strong Possibility Negotiations To Fail

PANMUNJOM (AP)—An authoritative source said tonight a showdown is coming between Allied and Communist truce negotiators tomorrow in a secret session which will "make or break the talks."

"There is a very distinct possibility of another breakdown in the talks," the source said. He added that the veil of secrecy will be lifted from the negotiations if there is a breakdown.

There were strong indications the showdown would come over Red demands for the recapture of non-Communist Korean prisoners freed last month and ironclad guarantees from the U. N. that South Korea would honor a truce.

The source said tomorrow's negotiating session "will be the showdown. The meeting will make or break the talks."

Claimed U.N. Walked Out

The source, who could not be identified, gave his estimate of the truce situation after the Chinese Communist radio claimed the U.N. command negotiators "walked out" of Wednesday's truce meeting.

But Peiping radio made it clear there would be another meeting at the customary hour of 11 a. m. tomorrow.

The Peiping radio said: "The other side unilaterally declared a recess and walked out of the meetings."

A U. N. Command spokesman said only: "No comment. We never comment on Communist propaganda broadcasts."

The negotiators met for 21 minutes Wednesday and the Allied delegation announced afterward that another session would be held at 11 a. m. tomorrow.

Allied officers here were openly pessimistic over chances of an early armistice, but elsewhere there was continued optimism that negotiators would agree soon.

Allied officers in direct contact with the negotiations said the Reds have taken a tougher position and are insisting that the U. N. Command provide concrete guarantees that South Korea will observe an armistice.

These same officers, who refused to be quoted by name, said the big Communist attack on the East-

Springer Quits

Ashland School Post

Wilbur J. Springer, former Salem High School principal who has been superintendent of schools at Ashland since Aug. 12, 1950, resigned last night when the Ashland Board of Education refused to meet his salary request of $8,000 a year.

Springer, who has been getting $7,300 was offered $7,400 for the next term and $7,500 for the two ensuing years. But, because he felt the board should have met his full request, he announced that he would resign, effective Aug. 15. The Ashland board recently gave its teachers pay increases of from $350 to $500 a year.

He said today he may enter into some kind of business, but he wasn't too sure about his future plans.

Springer was principal at Salem High from 1928 to 1936 and prior to that served as coach. After leaving Salem he was with a Wheeling insurance firm but became superintendent of Bay Village public school's in 1940, a position he held for 10 years before going to Ashland.

Ike Fights Slash In Foreign Aid

Congress Leaders Called To Conference

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower rallied some of his most persuasive aides around him today as he sought to ward off a new congressional slash in foreign aid funds.

Eisenhower invited members of a House appropriations subcommittee to breakfast with him at the White House and arranged to lunch with 23 members of the Senate appropriations group.

To both sessions, the President summoned Mutual Security Director Harold E. Stassen, Budget Director Joseph M. Dodge, Gen. Alfred M. Gruenther, the new North Atlantic Treaty Organization commander, and Maj. Gen. Wilton B. Persons, White House liaison man with Congress.

Chairman Bridges (R-NH) of the Senate committee said in advance he expects a presidential plea for foreign aid appropriations near the five billion dollar level.

But both Bridges and Chairman Taber (R-NY) of the House committee made it clear they believe Congress is in a mood to cut rather deeply into foreign assistance funds.

Gruenther, scheduled for testimony at a closed session of the Senate committee today, apparently sounded the administration's policy line when he told the House group yesterday that Western Europe may lose confidence in the United States if there are heavy money slashes.

The NATO commander said Europe is listening to Russian peace overtures but "they haven't swallowed them yet."

Sen. Thye (R-Minn.), a Senate committee member, bolstered another administration argument with the assertion that "it would be shortsighted to discontinue this program just at the time when the Kremlin is having internal difficulties."

"It would, in my opinion, be most unwise and undesirable if we in Congress undertook to greatly handicap the Mutual Security Agency, either by restrictive language relating to the carrying out of its functions, or by any further reductions in appropriations for implementation of military or economic aid," they said in a statement.

The President's action in inviting Dodge to the two meetings was regarded as a move to placate economy advocates who have been saying that the quickest road toward budget balancing lies in foreign aid cuts.

Whether the presidential meetings would have any persuasive

Youth Sticks Head In Hole, Can't Get It Out

KANSAS CITY (AP)—Alvin McCully, playing with some friends in a park yesterday, saw a large black hole in a rock cliff 15 feet above ground level, clambered up and poked his head inside.

His chums tugged and pulled. They called police, and Patrolman William Hutcherson arrived to do some pulling and tugging too. Alvin stayed stuck.

Finally Hutcherson got a screwdriver and a hammer plus a towel to wrap Alvin's head in. After 25 minutes in the dark, Alvin was chipped free, unhurt.

Marion Star Editor Retires

J. A. Maxwell, Jr., Is Named Successor

Firestone Rubber Demonstrates New Safety Tire To Officials

Nearly 175 city officials, newspaper men and Firestone Rubber Co. representatives Tuesday witnessed a demonstration by the Firestone Rubber Co. of the safety factors of its new Supreme tire. The event was held on State Route 99.

Firestone's Supreme is the new tubeless, safety tire, guaranteed to bring a car to a safe stop if a blowout occurs and to automatically seal all small punctures caused by nails and glass.

Persons from Salem, Youngstown, Akron, Warren, Niles, Columbiana, New Castle, Pa. and Sharon, Pa. attended the performance.

Representing Salem were Acting Mayor Ned Massa, Safety-Service Director J. Arch Harwood, Firestone Store Manager Richard Miller and Austin Brant, a Salem News reporter.

H. M. Thomas, Firestone's manager of sales in the Akron district, explained the construction of the new tire which incorporates a tire within a tire. "The Supreme tire," he explained, "incorporates every safety feature known by tire researchers."

After reaching the scene of the demonstration on Route 99, a tire previously damaged was placed on the left front wheel of the car. All the cords in the sidewall at one point had been broken, leaving only the rubber holding the tire together.

Five passengers besides the driver, Howard W. Jern, manager of tire sales in the Akron district, rode in the demonstration car.

The damaged tire blew after the car had traveled five and one-half miles on the highway. At the time of the blow-out, the car was clocked at 85 miles per hour. The driver brought the car to a safe stop.

Examination of the blown tire revealed a hole, when the edges of the break were spread apart, at least eight inches in diameter. Some of the passengers in the car said they experienced only a slight bump when the tire blew; others didn't know it had blown.

The tire within a tire, at the time of a blowout, retains enough air to

R. S. McCulloch Home From 3rd European Trip In 5 Years; Covered 10,000 Miles

A world traveler, who has made three trips to Europe in the last five years, has just returned from a two-month trip to the continent and his native Scotland.

Robert S. McCulloch, Sr., owner of the McCulloch department store here, sailed from New York on the Cunard liner, S. S. Mauretania, on May 12, to begin a thrilling, event-packed tour of the old world.

Aside from a memorable journey through England, Scotland, France, Italy, Switzerland, Germany, and Holland, Mr. McCulloch represented Salem at the International Convention of Rotary Clubs held in Paris.

ACCOMPANYING the traveler on his journey were his wife, and Attorney and Mrs. Robert Manchester of Youngstown. The attorney, a former Rotary District Governor, was elected the director of Zone 2 of the Rotary Clubs of the United States.

The couples landed at Southampton in England May 21. They visited London and were greatly impressed by the preparation and decorations being made for the coronation of Britain's queen.

Before going to the continent to attend the convention they went sightseeing in London and made trips to Oxford, Stratford on Avon and Warwick Castle.

They arrived in Paris May 24 to attend the Rotary convention there through the 28th.

The McCullochs and Manchester were entertained as Rotary members with a night at the opera and a program on the grounds of the Versailles Peace Palace which included a band concert and a ballet performance topped off with the turning on of the famous fountains amid a fabulous fireworks display.

Ten thousand Rotarians registered for the convention, 3,000 of them from the U.S., 3,000 from France, and the rest from all over the globe, Mr. McCulloch said.

FOLLOWING THE convention the McCullochs went on a sight-seeing tour which covered nearly all of Europe.

They visited the French and Italian Riviera and Monte Carlo, Florence, Rome, Naples, the ruins of Pompeii, Sorrento, Capri, Venice, Milan, Stresa in the Italian Alps, Switzerland, and down the Rhine to Koblenz, Cologne, Dusseldorf and Bonn, then over to Amsterdam, The Hague, and across the channel to England and Scotland.

Commenting on some of the cities and places he had visited, Mr. McCulloch said that everywhere they went everyone seemed very busy. "Business seemed booming in every country we visited," the Salem merchant declared.

"War damage was still evident in many of the large cities," he commented. "It still can be seen in Florence, but Naples is pretty well recovered," he explained.

While in Italy, the McCullochs visited the beach at Salerno where the invasion of the European continent first took place.

Florence, one of the oldest mercantile cities in the world, before the war had six famous bridges—bridges very unusual because shops and stores operate on its sides. The Germans, when being chased out of Italy blew up all but one of them, Mr. McCulloch stated.

IN MILAN, the couple visited the cathedral which was badly damaged during the war. The people are very busy restoring it, though, Mr. McCulloch said.

While there, too, they visited the monastery which houses the world-renowned painting, "The Last Supper" by Leonardo DaVinci.

In Amsterdam, Mr. McCulloch said, bicycles are everywhere. "It is said," he quoted, "that eight people a day are killed on bicycles in that city." They have a worse traffic problem with their bicycles there than we do here with our automobiles, he declared.

After returning to the British Isles, the McCullochs toured Mr. McCulloch's native Scotland which he left 54 years ago. By motor car they visited Aberdeen, Edinburgh, Glasgow and Tullibulough, where he was born.

Particularly impressing, Mr. McCulloch said, were the beautiful flowers. "Rhododendrons grow wild on both sides of the road," he explained. "and the moors were yellow with broom. The famous heather, which turns the hillsides and glens a rich purple in the autumn, was just beginning to show."

WHILE IN EDINBURGH, Mr. McCulloch accidentally met a cousin who is president of the Rotary Club in Coatbridge, a suburb of Edinburgh.

Many familiar movie stars were in Europe during Mr. McCulloch's visit. In the various hotels they stayed at while on their tour they saw such stars as Clark Gable, Lana Turner and Alan Ladd.

In Switzerland they stayed in the same hotel with the sister of Egypt's King Farouk. In London, the Sultan of Jahore occupied a room on the same floor.

Verifying the fact that movie stars lead hectic lives, Mr. McCulloch said Lana Turner couldn't leave her London hotel for three days because of the crowds of autograph hunters that besieged her.

Mr. and Mrs. McCulloch returned to Salem July 10. They returned on the liner, Empress of Australia, and landed in Montreal, Canada. They drove by car then from Montreal.

THIS VOYAGE HOME was the same trip Mr. McCulloch made in 1899, when with his father, he left Scotland to live in the United States.

Altogether, the couple traveled over 10,000 miles on their two-month journey. In 1949, Mr. McCulloch made a trip to the British Isles, and two years ago, visited Israel. Mr. McCulloch offers a little advice for anyone visiting Europe today.

He says, "Take about half the clothes you had planned to take and about twice the money as you think you'll need."

Christie Hanged For 7 Murders

British Slayer Dies Despite Insanity Plea

LONDON (AP)—John Reginald Holiday Christie, 55, the Notting Hill sex strangler who confessed he killed seven women but might have murdered more, was hanged today in Pentonville Prison.

Even as he died, a controversy raged over whether the mild-appearing transport worker and wartime auxiliary cop was guilty of a baby's murder for which another man was hanged three years ago.

The case of the insanity-pleading wholesaler in killing, who walked up his victims' bodies in his apartment or buried them in his garden, had shocked Britain as no other murder spree since Jack the Ripper's.

The sentence was carried out by Albert Pierrepoint, England's chief hangman, who keeps a Yorkshire pub called "Help the Poor Struggler" when not at his official duties.

Pierrepoint placed the noose with its attached black hood over Christie's head just before the scheduled hour, 9 a. m. Then the trap was sprung with a crash that echoed throughout the grim prison.

A crowd of about 200 persons, including many school children, were gathered outside the prison gate. A truckload of police waited near the gate but there was no disturbance.

The continuing controversy hinged on Christie's confession at his trial that he strangled a neighbor's wife three years ago. The neighbor, Timothy Evans, was accused of killing both his wife and baby daughter but was convicted and hanged only for the infant's death. Christie's confession aroused speculation that Christie also killed the baby, though he denied this.

Queen's Counsel John Scott Henderson, after a secret government inquiry, announced yesterday that Christie had lied in his confession and that he did not kill Mrs. Evans.

Evans' mother and two sisters remained unconvinced and wrote

Queen Elizabeth II last night, asking a public investigation. Seven Laborite members of Parliament also presented an 11th-hour motion demanding Christie's execution be stayed so he could testify at such an investigation.

The death sentence was carried out on schedule, however.

Christie was sentenced June 25 after a five-day trial in Old Bailey Court. He had testified that his ghoulish kills over a 10-year period—most of them streetwalkers throttled or suffocated in the throes of illicit love—might have totaled more than seven women but he wasn't sure.

He was tried, however, only for the murder of his wife Ethel, 54, whose decaying body was found beneath the parlor floor in their dingy Notting Hill tenement apartment.

During the trial, a psychiatrist testified Christie went berserk because he was "fascinated by dead e..." His own lawyer said the killer was "mad as a March Hare."

He testified he strangled his wife with a stocking to put her out of her agony during a convulsion. He claimed he repented and hid the parlor floor because he couldn't bear to be separated from her.

It May Cost Less than the Car You Own!

Surprised by the statement above? Then listen, for a moment, to these amazing facts:

The beautiful motorcar pictured here is actually priced lower than twenty-two different models of other motorcars built and sold in America.

Its gasoline economy is so extraordinary that it will travel farther on a gallon of gasoline than many cars of far less stature and size.

Its dependability is so great that, over a normal span of ownership, it will probably cost as little to operate and maintain as any car you could buy. Records of certain fleet operators indicate this.

And authoritative records reveal that this Cadillac may be expected to return a greater percentage of its owner's investment, at the time of resale, than any other motorcar built in America.

Perhaps your surprise has changed to concern.

For if you happen to own one of the twenty-two cars priced higher than this magnificent Cadillac—or if you own one of the many, many other cars which are very close in price—then you've been needlessly depriving yourself of some of the greatest satisfactions in all the world of motordom.

You've been depriving yourself of Cadillac's brilliant performance... its superlative handling ease... its marvelous riding comfort... its great and inspiring beauty... and the deep and abiding pride which comes with ownership of so beloved and respected a possession.

You'll surely agree—that's a lot of things to miss... especially when it costs no more to have them in this wonderful, wonderful car!

If you think we might be talking about you—come in and see us. You've already waited too long.

'Happy Birthday,' Lisbon!

Lisbon, the friendly Columbiana County village to our immediate south, will celebrate its sesquicentennial beginning Saturday.

Officially, the 150th birthday party will extend through all of next week. Actually, the celebration began weeks ago when Lisbon residents started hanging up the bunting and getting everything ship-shape for the gala event. The male residents have sported beards and goatees and wear derbies and silk hats. The women, bless 'em, are decked out in their finest old-fashioned dresses and sunbonnets. Everything's being done to make visitors welcome any day or night during the week-long sesquicentennial.

To an important Columbiana County community, which serves as the spoke of the wheel
in county affairs, we offer our heartiest
"Happy Birthday!"

100 Years Later

It has been exactly 100 years since Commodore Perry persuaded the Japanese to do business with the United States.

The persuasion began on July 8, 1853, when the commodore's fleet anchored in Tokyo Bay,
with its guns pointed shoreward.

In a similar expedition 18 years later, the government of Korea also was persuaded to do business with the United States, when a fleet flying the American flag dropped anchor at the sea entrance to Seoul and issued directives.

This strong-arming was standard practice in the latter half of the 19th century. The United States was imitating the empire builders of the time and ultimately was to carry the imitation to the extreme of wrestling the Philippines from Spain.

The real damage came from the introduction to backward peoples of weapons and ideas which they were not prepared to use. As late as the years after World War I, Americans were still busily introducing their best machines and methods to the Russian Communists, who had but one purpose in mind—to use the machines and methods to destroy the United States.

In the Russo-Japanese War, Japan demonstrated that it intended to become a great military power. For a few weeks after Pearl Harbor, a generation later, it dreamed of dictating surrender terms to the United States from the White House. It had learned its lessons well.

Once more, relations with the Japanese are cordial, as they were in President Theodore Roosevelt's time, when nothing was too good for the friendly little people of the Rising Sun.
For the next few days, there will be public celebrations in Japan, reaching a climax on July 14, when the Americans came ashore in 1853 to begin a century of sharing all the blessings of their civilization, including gunpowder and, ultimately, even atomic bombs.

Rebecca West Notices It

No living writer has a greater gift of clarity than Rebecca West, the English novelist and critic. Her recent reports on contemporary conditions have added new dimensions of understanding for intelligent readers.

But when Miss West's description of the damage being done in England by distortions
of the thing known there and here as "Mc-Carthyism" appeared recently in U.S. News & World Report, she learned something about unintelligent readers.

They snatched her words out of context,
twisted them and hurled them back at her with such savage malice she could only assume something unwholesome must have happened to what she remembered admiringly as
"the controversial atmosphere of the United States."

What she had intended to be an appeal to the reasoning power of liberal persons was twisted by liberals themselves into poison and prejudice.

"I might be amused," she commented in a communication to U.S. News & World Report,
"if I had not seen something of Germany in the early '30s. . . . If we abandon our sense of reality and our honesty, we are false to our vows and we become disguised reactionaries, contriving the defeat of the forces we pretend to serve."

Every spoken and written word in this country is likely to be pounced upon these days
by prejudiced citizens locked in a deadly contest of ignorance and misrepresentation. Americans are dangerously close to the point where the voice of reason may be drowned out by the thunder of hatred. Miss West has noticed something which is striking fear into the hearts of Americans who have noticed it, too.

A wife is a person who says her husband is the salt of the earth—and then shakes him down.

Thieves locked a man in his refrigerator while they robbed his delicatessen store. He kept cool!

Price Supports

Keeping Farm Prices Up Vexing Problem To Ike

Of all the elements contributing to the sky-high annual deficit the one causing President Eisenhower
the most acute political concern is the huge rise in expenditures to keep farm prices up.

Specifically the net Treasury drain for that purpose during the fiscal year just ended was $1,887,- 000,000, compared with a credit of $139,000,000 in the last previous year.

As of last April 30 the total government investment in farm commodities (owned outright or earmarked as security for loans) was $3,135,000,000 as compared with $1,609,000,000 a year earlier. A very large part of this increase has accrued since Mr. Eisenhower took over.

Favorable 1953 crop prospects almost certainly will accelerate this outlay, with effect of increasing the obstacle to budget balancing and tax reduction in the election year just ahead.

Most conspicuous of all is the government's steadily rising accumulation of butter, despite free distribution of 74,000,000 pounds to charitable institutions and the school-lunch program and 50,- 000,000 pounds sold to the Army for 15 cents a pound.

The government support price is about 65 cents. During about the past six months the purchase of butter by the government has totaled 270,000,000 pounds, equivalent to 22 per cent of the whole U.S.
butter production during 1952.

Meanwhile the government has increased its holdings of a host of other farm commodities—wheat, dried milk, cheese, cottonseed and linseed oil, wool, cotton, peanuts and tobacco.

Besides taxes for these bounties
at the rate of some $2,000,000,000 a year, American consumers are paying much more than otherwise would be the case for things bought from grocers and butchers.

The anomaly in all this for Mr.
Eisenhower is that both he and his secretary of agriculture, Ezra Benson, favor change from the present rigid 90-per-cent-of-parity
price-support system.

Urging more flexible supports also are the two big farm organizations, the American Farm Bureau Federation and the National Grange.

But a bipartisan majority in both houses of Congress not only continues to block any change in the price support law but the House
just recently has passed a bill tending to increase farm-benefit payments.

Rivers, Harbors, Pork Barrels

By RAYMOND MOLEY

Amid a demonstration by a number of senators of that delicate sense of decorum and selfless regard for others that distinguishes a crowd of women at a bargain
sale of handbags, the upper house passed the appropriations for the Army Corps of Engineers.

The "upper" house, as Sen.
Douglas said during the debate,
because it always "upped" the appropriations passed by the House.
All but the "trifling" sum of $12,000,000 of the appropriation is for rivers, harbors, flood control,
and the generation of electric power.

Long before there was an executive budget, this was familiarly known as the "rivers and harbors bill" and the extent to which it was packed with appropriations inspired by local political interests popularized it as the annual "pork barrel."

The scramble for special local concerns is less marked now, since the initiative comes from a budget prepared from the national vantage point of the White House. But these bills still contain plenty of pork.

The break for the taxpayer in this particular bill is fairly good,
however, for the amount appropriated is far below the original Truman requests.

The Truman budget requests for this bill were $683,377,000.

Eisenhower, who is no novice in dealing with Army spending habits, slashed this amount to $498,- 650,000.

The House cut that to $417,391,- 000.

The Senate restored several items and added a few, bringing it to $473,762,000.

Sen. Knowland, chairman of the subcommittee in charge, pointed out that this represented a 5 per cent cut below Eisenhower and 30 per cent below Truman.

Altogether, this is encouraging,
considering the ruthless pressure of local interests on Congress and the President.

Again Congress has shown a greater disposition for economy than the President, and within Congress the House has been more saving than the Senate.

As always in the past years, in the final assault of the spenders, the indefatigable Sen. Magnuson was well in front. This time he was vigorously abetted by Morse, whose violence against Eisenhower grows greater by the day.

Against this assault, Knowland showed excellent skill in leadership. It is true that the bill piloted by Knowland represented a loss of a sizable part of the economies achieved by the House, a fact concerning which Sen. Douglas sharply prodded the chairman.

This measure would raise the minimum national wheat acreage allotment from 55,000,000 to 66,- 000,000 acres and exclude farmers producing on fewer than 25 acres of growing less than 400 bushels
from any restriction.

Pointing to the evils of butter buying, the current bulletin of the National City Bank of New York
says:

"The high price support discourage consumption of butter,
encourages the use of margarine,
and at the same time maintains butter production. It subsidizes the butter producer directly and the margarine industry indirectly, and is a burden to everyone else. It postpones adjustments and perpetuates rather than overcomes the difficulties of the butter market."

Also this bulletin points out that,
by the price-support system, American farmers are, in the words of Herschel D. Newsom, master of the National range, "pricing ourselves out of the world market."

And foreign sales of American commodities would have been even less, except for other types of government bounties required to permit export at prices well below
what American consumers pay.

Take, for example, the international wheat agreement. Because the American wheat price throughout four years of operation has continuously ranged above the $1.80-a-bushel maximum prescribed by that pact, the U.S. government has subsidized export of 900,000,000 bushels to the tune of $550,000,000.

Extension of this wheat agreement for three years, with the maximum price raised to $1.05 a bushel, is now pending before the U.S. Senate.

For the 12 months ended last June 30, export of U. S. agricultural commodities totaled $2,- 900,000,000, as against slightly over $4,000,000,000 in the previous year.
Because the artificially bolstered U.S. farm prices are becoming more and more out of line with world prices, sale of our surpluses abroad is expected to become more difficult and costly to taxpayers
in the months ahead.

Eisenhower's hour of decision comes next December 31, when the 90-per-cent-of-parity price support runs out.

The questions are (1) Can he move to abate this class subsidy without inviting loss of congressional control in next year's election and (2) Will Congress go along with him even if he dares to press the issue.

It Can Become A Dreadfully Cold, Unfriendly World

Inside Soviet Russia

By GEORGE E. SOKOLSKY

As word seeps through the Iron Curtain, the difference of view which is shaking the Soviet world is between Malenkov and Molotov.

Beria is the troika trio to go. Maybe he needs a fair trial, but he will not have that.

Who will be next to go?
Stalin played it that way after Lenin's death
when he used Kamenev and Zinoviev against Trotzky while he sat back to await the destruction of all three.

The issues involved in the quarrel are not clear but whatever they are, they are pawns in the struggle for the first place in the succession to Stalin's power.

IT WOULD appear that Molotov, having had experience in foreign relations, is moving toward the unification of Germany on a basis more satisfactory to the Western powers.

Malenkov's view seems to be that the Western powers do not matter, but that the Communist parties must be preserved in all countries.

If concessions are made to the Western powers, which imperil the European Communist parties, the bulwarks of the defense of Soviet Russia will be imperilled.

The quarrel reminds me of that between Stalin and Trotzky over the question as to whether socialism can succeed in one country.
This type of ideological warfare
is a device to line up supporters behind the contenders. In the end, Stalin exiled Trotzky and ultimately had him murdered.

DID THAT prove Stalin ideologically right? From a Marxist standpoint it did because Stalin survived.

In a system in which those are fittest who survive, the test of correctness can only be survival.

Molotov is a heavy-minded clerk-ish type of bureaucrat who has managed to survive all the inner quarrels in the Kremlin. He and Kaganovich are the only old Bolsheviks who have outlived the purges.

They not only continued to live
but both have remained in high office. Molotov is one of the troika who succeeded Stalin; Kaganovich is in the Presidium.

COMPARED to these two, such men as Malenkov and Beria are babies, both in years and experience.

Yet, whereas Molotov has had long tenure, Malenkov and Beria were personally trained by Stalin,
who was a man of singular political astuteness, whose rise to power was marked by few false steps.
He could be subservient almost to fawning.

Stalin could withdraw from a situation so that others might think their day had come. He could kill with the swiftness of a panther.

Molotov was never more than a servant to Stalin, but Malenkov and Beria were Stalin's pupils. The difference will be clear to anyone who studies the art of revolution and empire-building.

My guess is that the next step for real trouble will not be in Germany but in Japan. Whoever is strongest in the Kremlin needs some kind of a success, something to prove that his judgment is correct, his initiative effective, and his maneuvers successful.

GERMANY is a very complicated situation and difficult to work out because of French and American suspicions of British policy.

The failure of the Bermuda conference must have been a great disappointment to the Kremlin.

Japan is another story. The Japanese are hungry for Asiatic trade.
They want to trade with Manchuria and China.

They want to do business in Harbin, Mukden, Dairen, Shanghai, Hankow, Tientsin, Canton.

These places are all held by the Chinese Communists. They would also like to trade in Southeast Asia, from Hongkong to Colombo, but the British want that trade for themselves.

THIS ISSUE is going to come to a head sooner than we like and again the United States will be in the middle between British policy and our support of some Asiatic country.

The Eisenhower administration has never yet been able to meet such a situation head on. It seeks a "middle-of-the-road" answer, something that will please everybody and make a gay world.
There are no such answers, with the result that all sides become violently angry with us.

Then the Russians step in with some tricky solution like the Indian truce scheme for Korea.

All this is part of the inner fight in the Kremlin. Each side, the Malenkov side and the Molotov side, needs a big success to knock off the adversary.

There is some hope that the United States might make the false step that will provide the means to that success. So, they guess on, even as we do.

Matters Of Opinion

By TRUMAN TWILL

Circumstances alter cases and time changes all things, to wit:

It has been a generation at least since the finest home cooking had anything over restaurant cooking
—and home cooking in general always has been overrated.

Politics has ceased to pack a wallop because politicians have been standing still while everything else has been picking up speed — and what they say and do suffers by comparison with the world about them.

Air-conditioning, which is about the fastest-growing industry there is right now, is making a good thing out of what passes for functionalism in modern architecture
—but is not functionalism at all insofar as the comfort of human beings is concerned in the good old summertime.

Old timers who boast of the hardships they endured in the course of getting an advanced education because they believe what was primitive was necessarily superior should limit their boasting to other old timers. Most of them wouldn't have survived the first semester of advanced education in a first-class modern college.

Military figures who tell after the event what they'd have done
if they could have done what they wanted to do bear an unflattering resemblance to fighters who say,
"Gimme another chance at da
bum. Next time I'll moider 'im!"

All of a sudden, everybody involved in the Korean mess, which was the supreme mess that Dwight Eisenhower inherited, is running over with honorableness and only that poor old Syngman Rhee is a dirty so-and-so for trying to save his country. Even Winston Churchill, who didn't become prime minister to preside over the dismemberment of His Majesty's empire,
now is saying dirty things about Rhee.

When the grandchildren look at old snapshot albums and movies
they will die laughing at the old-timers' heavy-rimmed glasses which made them look like deepsea divers.

English children are no longer dropping their H's, thanks to British Broadcasting Corp., which sets a good example for them, but whatever happened to the theory that radio would make Americans talk better?

If the sale of power mowers to careless home-owners continues apace, there won't be one householder in a hundred with 10 whole figgers.

The sight of a grown man in sandals, instead of suggesting solid comfort, is more likely to suggest an era in which kids wore sandals of necessity because they were the cheapest and most durable of warm-weather footwear.

Arch Nearbrite says Hollywood,
in its confusion, has helped him
economize by producing fewer bad pictures on which he would have spent his money.

Aunt Molly Harmsworth says all these ready mixes and pre-fabricated foods on the market are making marriage prospects pretty tough
for an old-fashioned plain girl whose chief appeal is her cooking.

ing of Israel, when the people willingly offered themselves.—Judges

Once Over

By H. I. PHILLIPS

Parents Get A Break

The 1953 Elmer Twitchell Fund to send parents away into the country so they can get some rest from the children starts today.

Parents greeted the idea with enthusiasm, and the kiddies gave it warm support, too, since there are large numbers who would rather stay home than go to the shore or country, provided they were free from adult restraint.

Mom and Pop are in worse shape than the youngsters and it is high time they had a fresh air fund.

Last year the Twitchell Fund sent thousands of parents to the beaches and mountains where they could get a respite from the trials and tribulations of raising a family. Nobody else had ever given them a thought.

What a joy it was to be at the railroad station as the parents assembled, their spirits bubbling to a point of hysteria!

How impressive to see mom and dad leaping and jumping all over the station as they screamed their delight and waited to be lined up and marched to the trains!

The kids showed up to see them off and were overjoyed, too, as they struggled to keep the grown-ups under reasonable restraint and shouted "So long! Don't hurry back!" "G o o d riddance!" and "Send us a postcard and see who cares!"

(A few parents got lost, but were later found okay with the exception of a Mrs. Minerva Schwartz, who is still missing and is believed to have been shoved into an open manhole just outside the depot by her little boy and girl, who are known to have had trouble getting her on the train unless she had another bag of jelly doughnuts and some more lollipops.)

Among letters received last year are the following:

Dear Sir: Am I having fun at Camp Happiness! Not a kid around anywhere. Nobody under twelve is allowed within 20 miles of the camp. Oh, the joy of two weeks free from trying to make anybody wash behind the ears!
A mother.

Dear Sir: For years I sent my kids away to camp in the summer so I could get a rest.
Then your fund came along and sent me away.
I had two weeks without a fight over the TV programs, a complaint from a neighbor that Junior had busted a window again or a cop calling to investigate a report that he had been shooting at passing buses with his BB gun.
The kids enjoyed the switch, too. Stayed out as late as they wanted every night, I hear.
Pop

The Twitchell Fund: I am enclosing $5 as my mite in order to help some parent go the mountains and stop worrying over what to get the small fry for dinner, and how to make little Willie bathe daily. The kids don't need summer camps; it's the parents.

SENATE WITNESS

Behold the clammer-upper—
He won't say "yes" or "no"
To any simple question
That helps expose the foe.
While the kids die in the passes,
And mothers know despair,
He answers, "Won't you help us?"
With most defiant air.

Ohio General Assembly's 100th Session Is Ended

COLUMBUS, O. (AP) — The 100th General Assembly ran out of steam Tuesday shortly before midnight and called it quits.

The House broke off its deliberations at 10:30 (EST), 90 minutes before its own deadline. The Senate forged ahead another 44 minutes and then bowed out.

The House, under the direction of Republican Speaker William Saxbe adjourned without letting the Senate know.

Senate Majority Leader C. Stanley Mechem (R-Athens) expressed surprise that the close, working agreement between him and Saxbe broke down at a critical point—just when Mechem was ready to push for Senate approval of a half-dozen measures certain House members wanted.

It was on such a note that the orderly adjournment promised by both Mechem and Saxbe ended.

Both Houses will meet in skeleton session Saturday for the signing of last-minute bills. Actual final adjournment will come Friday, July 31, in a session which will clean up last minute details and consider any vetoes handed down by Democratic Gov. Frank J.

Lausche.

Sen. Ross Pepple (R-Allen) pulled an adept piece of legislative ledgerdom in waning minutes of the session. His action assured a vote of the people in 1954 on a proposal to give elected state officials and legislators four-year terms.

The House earlier in the day had passed a somewhat-changed version of Pepple's constitutional proposal for four-year terms. But, because House Republican leaders didn't care for their own version of the proposal, they asked the Senate to request a conference committee so further changes might be made in it.

But conferees were unable to reach an agreement the Senate would accept.

So Pepple asked the Senate to reconsider its earlier refusal to accept House amendments. The Senate agreed. That left the House leaders high and dry; the House version of the proposal goes to the voters in a form the House leaders do not like.

Einstein Acts As Host At Students' Party

PRINCETON, N. J. (AP)—A genius acted as a host at a garden party for 35 foreign students yesterday.

but his guests said, "He didn't act like a genius at all."

The host was Albert Einstein, whose baggy clothes and shaggy hair belie his position as the world's foremost physicist. It was an informal gathering and the days on Taylor (Buddy) Reynolds, a prisoner from Bedford.

"A very nice man, very easy-going and friendly," summed up the students' impressions of the man who created the theory of relativity.

Convict Escapes 5 Times On 60-Day Sentence

BLAND, Va. (AP)—Wythe County Jail officials can't be blamed if they're keeping a sharp eye these days on Taylor (Buddy) Reynolds, a prisoner from Bedford.

Reynolds is due to be released from prison next month.

The last time he was scheduled to be freed, he beat the release date by escaping—his fifth escape since he was sentenced three years ago to 60 days in jail.

His previous escapes prolonged his sentence each time.

Rev. Winn Honored By Congregation

A round of surprises made up the program when the First Friends Bible School honored its pastor, Rev. Harold B. Winn, Sunday morning.

Rev. Winn, who is enrolled in the Winona Lake (Ind.) School of Theology 1953 Flying Seminar, will leave Fort Wayne, Ind., July 26, for the Holy Land.

Policeman Marty Lutch brought a telegram to the church giving the pastor the first inkling that the school had designated that day as "Pastor's Send Off Sunday," details of which was arranged by Gordon Allen, superintendent.

The next "surprise" was the appearance of Rev. C. C. Davis, pastor of the First Methodist Church, who represented the Salem Ministerial Association. He expressed his good wishes in well chosen words and concluded with "bon voyage."

Then came the parents of Rev. Winn, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Winn of Alliance. Mr. Winn gave the greeting to his son.

Ralph S. Coppock, presiding clerk of both Damascus Quarterly Meeting and Ohio Yearly Meeting of Friends, spoke for these organizations.

Raymond Ingram, clerk of the church, in "an open letter" paid tribute to Rev. Winn and his ministry. Excerpts from this letter are as follows:

"In bidding you farewell and bon voyage we wish to convey to you and your family our sincere appreciation for your labor among us.... we believe that the spiritual progress and growth of our church, and the loyalty of the church membership and Bible School is the real evidence of the blessing of God upon your work here."

"However, we would like to express, in words, our high esteem of your ministry of the Word of God. Your sermons have been real spiritual food to us, for which we thank God. They have enabled us to enjoy a closer walk with our Lord."

"We trust your voyage will be all that you anticipate and that your ministry will be enriched by it. May the Grace of our Lord Jesus Christ be with you and His protecting hand over you."

Others who had part were Herman C. Stratton, Judy Howell, Bonnie Lou Snyder, Barry Emelo and Bobby Crum.

Rev. Winn was presented a gift of money, a camera and several small gifts.

Two-Year-Old Penny Behaves Like a Child On 'Vacation' Here

No One's Going To Make A Monkey Out Of This Chimpanzee

"Vacationing" in Salem this summer is Penny, 22-months-old chimpanzee who is staying at the home of Mrs. Hattie Keen of 518 E. Fifth St.

The friendly little animal, brought to America when she was 11 months old by Mrs. Keen's nephew, Robert L. Moffett of Alliance, is as devoted to Mrs. Keen as a daughter would be.

SHORTLY AFTER her arrival in America, Penny contracted pneumonia and was nursed through her illness by Mrs. Keen. She seemed never to forget the Salem woman's kindness and excitedly greeted her every visit she made to Louis-

A LADY DINES—Penny, 22-months-old chimpanzee living at the home of Mrs. Hattie Keen of 518 E. Fifth St., enjoys a hearty dinner before settling down for an evening of television. At top left, Penny, neat in her white bib, munches a stalk of celery. She next enjoys a bowl of raisins and finishes off the meal with a ginger snap. At bottom right, Penny, dressed in her red sweater and plaid skirt and with her diaper peeping through, hops up on a stool to turn on the television.

Identical Twin Calves Sought By Government

BELTSVILLE, Md.—Know anybody with identical twin calves?

If so, the Department of Agriculture's research center here would like to buy them—at slightly higher than the current market price.

Scientists need the calves for feeding tests and unless more twins are obtained in a hurry the experiments will be seriously handicapped.

Officials say they can learn as much from identical twins as they can from a dozen unrelated calves.

Mrs. Keen keeps Penny during summer vacations and about a month ago took her back into her home when Mr. Moffett was seriously injured in an auto accident near Alliance.

The teacher purchased Penny at the Carl Hartley farm at Nairobi, Africa, where wild animals are supplied for motion pictures. Penny was purchased for $350 but is now worth $1,700, having outgrown her babyhood and become accustomed to her new environment.

Mrs. Keen sometimes permits Penny to roam about the house clothed in a diaper. At other times

she is kept in a cage in the corner of the kitchen.

Her favorite outfit is a red jersey sweater, plaid skirt, diaper, and tennis shoes and socks.

MRS. KEEN brushes Penny's teeth every day and gives her a daily bath.

The chimp has learned to eat most things that humans eat and can sit up at the table and feed herself with a spoon. Penny does not enjoy meats too well, preferring vegetables.

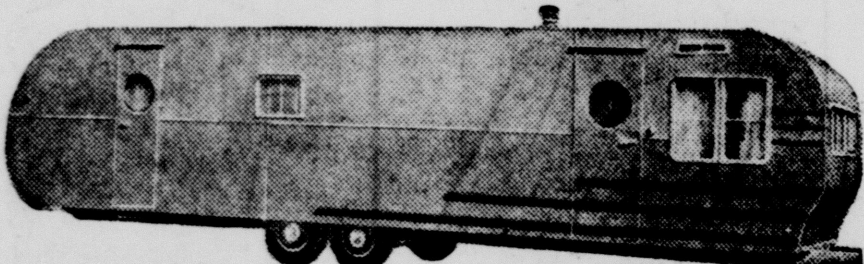

She especially goes for strawberry short cake, cottage cheese and swieback.

No serious attempts have been made to teach Penny to perform tricks. That will come when she is about three years old. Chimpanzees mature between eight and 12 years of age.

Last year Mrs. Keen took Penny to the Fourth St. School where she delighted children in all the classes.

She will remain in Salem until the recovery of Mr. Moffett and then will return often for visits and "vacations."

Historical Club Elects Officers

Miss Leila Beard Is Chosen President

COLUMBIANA—An historical organization to be known as the Historical Society of Columbiana and Fairfield Township was formed at a meeting in the public library, Monday evening, attended by 25. Another meeting will be held at the same place at 8:45 p.m., Monday, July 27.

Officers elected Monday evening were: Miss Leila Beard, author of a 125th anniversary history of the Columbiana Methodist Church, president; Leo E. Holloway, vice president; Mrs. R. E. Weaver, secretary; E. B. Dillon, treasurer; committee on constitution and by-laws, John L. Hutson, Mrs. Evan Roller and E. L. Calvin.

A permanent organization for the preservation of historical information and mementos of early days in Columbiana and Fairfield township, among the earliest settlements in Ohio, has been under consideration for some time.

Columbiana and East Fairfield were both important points in the westward trend of population before 1800, Columbiana having been formally laid out as a town in 1805, and will probably observe its sesquicentennial two years hence.

Because of the lack of time for preparation, it was decided not to undertake acceptance of an invitation to make an exhibit at the Lisbon sesqui this week.

THE BOARD of education of Columbiana village exempted school district took final action Monday evening on the proposal to submit to the voters of the district at the November election a $450,000 bond issue for the erection of a new grade school building and the remodeling of the High School auditorium.

The bond issue would represent a tax of 2.9 mills, in addition to which another two mills will be asked for operating expenses. A budget of $176,000 was accepted for next school year.

The board has taken an option on a six-acre site on N. Middle St. Ext., north of Salem St., for the proposed new school building.

Thirty desks were purchased from the Kyser Sales Co. of Warren for another second grade room, making three second grades, for next school year. Raymond Poulton was hired as night custodian of the High School building, and the clerk was instructed to advertise for bids for supplying coal next school year.

ROBERT MANCHESTER, Attorney of Youngstown, elected a director of Rotary International at the recent world convention in Paris, was the speaker at the meeting of the Rotary Club, Monday evening.

Speaking on "Paris in the Spring," he gave his experiences in connection with the convention, attended by 10,300 Rotarians and their families from 76 countries, which he said was perhaps the most international convention ever held.

He congratulated the Columbiana Club for its fine work. Mr. Manchester was presented by Elmer Detwiler, Jr., program chairman. Visiting Rotarians were Guy Hoover of Alliance; Dean Beardsley of Youngstown, and Joseph Bryan and W. H. Matthews of Salem. Clarence Griswold, former publisher of the Columbiana Ledger, was welcomed back to the club after an illness of several weeks.

John Crawford will be program chairman next week when Mr. Matthews of Salem will be the speaker.

KIWANIS CLUB members met in Pavilion 2, Firestone Park Monday evening and in the absence of a summer program, members ren for another second grade room, played softball after the meal, making three second grades, for next school year. Raymond Poul-

Children Enjoy Swimming At Firestone Park

LEETONIA—The second day of free swimming for children of the Leetonia school district sponsored by the Chamber of Commerce will be held at Firestone Park, Columbiana, Thursday morning. Buses will leave the terminal at 9:30 a.m. returning at 12 noon.

Mrs. Victor Hedl is in charge of the supervision of the children. The pool officials insist that all girls must wear bathing caps while swimming and each girl should see that she has a suitable cap for the remainder of the swimming program.

Supt. of Schools D. D. Rummel, J. Leland Helt and Edward C. Greenamyer, comprise the Community Booster Club committee in charge of the erection of an electric scoreboard for the high school athletic field.

The new scoreboard is expected to be ready for service at the start of the football season in September.

SERVICEMEN'S CLASS members of St. Paul's Lutheran Church will have a "family swim" at the Firestone Pool, Columbiana, this evening from 10 to 12 p.m.

William Jackson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Glen Jackson, has received his discharge from the U. S. Army. He recently served 7 months in Korea.

D. D. Rummel, Frank Vespasian and T. V. Utterback from Columbiana are spending this week fishing in Canada.

Nationals Whip American League Fourth Straight, 5-1

Mickey Mantle Re-Injures Leg

Sluggers Silenced As Pitchers Dominate

By JOE REICHLER
CINCINNATI (AP)—Has the All-Star injury jinx struck again? Casey Stengel was a mighty worried man today as he took his league-leading New York Yankees into St. Louis for a three-game series.

News that Mickey Mantle found it painful to walk following the aggravation of a pulled leg muscle in yesterday's All-Star game was even more distressing to the grizzled pilot than the American League's 5-1 defeat at the hands of the Nationals.

The pain was so severe that Mantle may not be able to play against the Browns tomorrow night. The switch-hitting star won't be sure until before game time but all he knows is that his leg is "hurtin'."

Stengel was blaming himself today for Mantle's re-injury. He permitted Mickey to play in the All-Star Game against his better judgment. It wasn't until five minutes before the start of the game that Casey decided to yield to Mantle's insistence on playing.

In the seventh inning, Mickey hit a sharp force-play grounder to shortstop and, in putting on speed to avert a double play, re-injured his left leg. The young slugger was playing with a taped leg, hurt for the first time two weeks ago, and re-injured last Sunday against Washington.

The crowd of 30,846 cash customers saw a game entirely different from what they had anticipated. Expecting to see the sluggers knock down the Crosley Field fences, the fans saw instead the pitchers all but completely dominate the hitters. No home runs were hit for the first time since 1944. There wasn't even a measty triple. The only extra base hit was a two-bagger by Peeewe Reese that could have been held to a single with sharper fielding.

In all, 15 hits were made, 10 by the victors. Robin Roberts, Warren Spahn, Curt Simmons and Murry Dickson, in that order, held the American Leaguers to five singles. They had a two-hit shutout until the ninth when singles by Ferris Fain, pinch hitter Johnny Mize and Minnie Minsos off Dickson provided the only AL run.

The defeat was the fourth straight for the American League as well as for Stengel, who has yet to win an All-Star Game. The Yankee manager has more luck in the fall, however, as his four World Series triumphs attest. The American League still holds a 12-8 edge after the 20th game.

The National League attack was paced by Enos Slaughter and Reese, a pair of veteran All-Star performers. Slaughter, now 10-year-man in All-Star play, gave his greatest performance. He rapped two hits, drove in a run and scored two. He also stole a base and electrified the crowd with a brilliant diving catch in the sixth inning.

Reese, hitless in eight previous All-Star Games, drove in two runs with a single and double. Stan Musial got two hits but they didn't figure in the scoring.

The Phillies' Richie Ashburn also contributed to the National League's scoring. His pinch single off loser Allie Reynolds drove in the first of two fifth-inning tallies and broke a scoreless deadlock. Dickson drove in the final Nationals' run with a single off Satchel Paige in the eighth. The hit followed singles by Roy Campanella and Slaughter.

The Americans received shutout pitching from southpaw Billy Pierce to match three scoreless innings of pitching by Robin Roberts. Each allowed only one hit. Spahn, who received credit for the victory, hurled two hitless innings before giving way to pinch hitter Ashburn. Simmons permitted one hit in the two innings he pitched.

See your local merchant first.

NIPPED AT SECOND—Billy Goodman of the American League is out at second in the first inning during an attempted steal during the 1953 All Star game in Cincinnati. Shortstop Peeewe Reese (left) of the National League took the throw from Catcher Roy Campanella for the out. Umpire Augie Donatelli call the play. The National League won 5 to 1.

BACK WITH THE TEAM—Marine Captain Ted Williams, who has been playing against the Red team in Korea as a jet pilot, and who is in the States for an ear examination is greeted by friends on a friendly "Red" team—his old comrades of the Boston Red Sox, as he attends the annual All-Star game in Cincinnati. Indianapolis Gains Game Over Toledo

By The Associated Press
With St. Paul's rookie Don Besant stifling Toledo's upward surge on a 2-0 shutout, league-leading Indianapolis gained breathing space in the American Association by finally posting a victory.

The Indians checked a recent slide at four losses by beating

Minneapolis Tuesday night 3-1. Coupled with the Toledo loss, it gave Indianapolis a game and a half margin over the runnerup Sox.

In other games, Louisville moved into a third-place tie with Kansas City by beating Charleston 8-2 while the Blues were losing to Columbus 5-4. The victory gave Columbus sixth place, one-half game ahead of Minneapolis.

Bessent fanned nine Toledo batters and scattered six hits. His teammates backed him with 10 hits, including two doubles by Bob Wilson.

Buddy Daley, southpaw rookie making his first start in the Association, was the Indianapolis winner.

Louisville's victory ended a five-game winning streak for Charleston.

Veterans Lead Ohio Women's Golf Tourney

DAYTON, O. (AP)—The veterans are taking command of the Women's Ohio State Golf Championship tournament at the Dayton Country Club. Three former champions were in the second round today.

Mrs. Burt Weil of Cincinnati with three titles (1934-35-36), Claire Doran of Cleveland (1950-52 champion), and Carol Diring of Tiffin, (1951 winner) were still in the running as the field was sliced to eight.

One three-time champion, Mrs. Charles Beardsley of Dayton (1938-40-42), fell yesterday. But enough of the battle-scarred warriors were still in the field to lend the belief that this is not the year for a youngster to crash through.

Mrs. Weil, who won the medal honors with a scintillating three-under-par 72 Monday, continued her pace Tuesday, going two under par for the 15 holes she needed to eliminate Dorothy Kerby of Akron, 5 and 3.

Miss Doran had little trouble conquering 18-year-old Barbara McIntire of Toledo, 3 and 2.

Miss Diring found Mrs. Beardsley a stubborn foe, but emerged victorious, 2 and 1.

Two comparative youngsters fought a tough match in the upper bracket. Ann Keltner, 20, of Worthington, came from a one-down deficit at the turn to defeat 17-year-old Ann Richardson of Columbus, one up.

Polly Martin, the 23-year-old St. Clairsville girl, won from Donna Knox, Toledo, 2 up, in another close tussle.

Biggest margin of the day was chalked up by Mrs. Stanley Emerson, the state association president and twice a Dayton city champion. She whipped Mrs. Ben Senchuk of Akron, 8 and 7.

Pitching Overshadows Hitting In 20th All-Star Battle

By HAROLD HARRISON
CINCINNATI (AP)—That National League power everyone was talking about can bow down and say "Thank you" to the pitching. That was the general verdict in both clubhouses after yesterday's 5-1 victory by the National League over the American League in the 20th All-Star Game.

Charlie Dressen, manager of the Brooklyn Dodgers and the pilot of the winning National Leaguers, had this to say:

"When you get tough pitching, they're tough to hit. I wish I had that kind of pitching all season."

And Casey Stengel, manager of the New York Yankees and the boss man for the American Leaguers, blamed inability to hit for most of the American League woes.

Casey also had some rough words for an umpire and the wind. He insisted Eddie Mathews of the Milwaukee Braves was not hit by a pitched ball in the fifth inning when the Nationals scored two runs. He also declared Larry Doby's ninth-inning fly would have been a home run except for the brisk wind.

But he added: "We got beat and we got beat fairly."

Happiest guy for the Nationals was Peeewe Reese, Brooklyn shortstop. Although he had played in seven previous games he never had gotten a hit in 13 times at bat. Yesterday he knocked out a single and a double and drove in two runs.

Dressen insisted he wasn't worried when the American Leaguers threatened in the ninth because "we had a couple of boys down there getting ready."

Dressen may not have been too much concerned but there was one worried individual. That was Warren Giles, president of the National League.

The personable Giles became considerably upset when Johnny Mize crashed out a ninth-inning single, but he became his affable self when the final out came moments later.

Deming Edges Bliss, 2-1

M & E, Leetonia Win Class A Tilts

Demings edged the first place Bliss Co., 2-1, last night at Kelley Park in the only AA tilt of the evening. In Class A play the M & E Market shut out Parkers, 8-0, and Leetonia swamped the Golden Eagle, 22-5.

Deming pitcher Dave Ehrhart tossed a one-hitter against the leading Bliss aggregation. Rance got the lone Bliss hit and also scored their only run of contest. Boughton led the Deming batting with two hits. W. Hahn, Cibula, Long and Ehrhart each had one hit apiece for Demings.

Parkers got only three hits off M & E pitcher Cosky. Chester had two and Hertel one. Schuster, Gottschling, Megert, F. Baker, and J. Baker each got single hits for the M & E. The Market scored in the first, second and third innings.

Scoring in every inning Leetonia had little trouble in downing Golden Eagle. Leetonia is last year's Class A champs. Bell led the Leetonia hitting with three safe slams. Culler, Billet, and Tingle each had two hits. The Golden Eagle had six hits off Leetonia pitcher, Bell.

The match is the first Wisconsin boxing show to be televised nationally and will wind up a 40-round fight card. The telecast is scheduled for 9 p. m., EST.

NATIONAL OVER AMERICAN, AGAIN—It's the National League over the American League, once again, even as National infielder, Davy Williams, leapfrogs American Hank Bauer, to put Bauer out on a throw from PeeWee Reese. Umpire Stevens calls the play, during the seventh inning of the 20th annual All-Star game at Cincinnati.

on the bag ahead of the runner. The shortstop does not tag the runner, but relays to first base not in time to get the batter. Who's out? —George Porter.

Answer: The batter is out on a third strike with a man on first base and not more than one out. The runner moving from first base was not a force out. He ran at his own risk, must be tagged on the play.
Q. Of the 16 major league managers, how many are former outfielders? —Floyd Johnson.

A. Casey Stengel.
Q. What was Babe Ruth's all-time top batting average? —Jim Rawlings.

A. .393 in 1923.
Question: There is a runner on first base with one out. The batter bunts on the third strike. The first baseman dashes across the foul line, makes a diving catch. Seeing the first baseman out of position to throw, the man on first takes off for second after the catch. Is this legal? —Chuck Jaffe.

Answer: A base-runner can advance on a ball caught in foul territory as in the case of an ordinary fly ball.

Inside Labor

By Victor Riesel

STOCKHOLM To this very city from which Soviet propagandists once launched the world peace petition — a global operation designed to mask the attack they were even then plotting against South Korea — have come those leaders of American labor who warned that the Reds planned such Korean aggression.

Their warnings went unheeded by America's military and political leaders.

George Meany, recently elected head of the American Federation of Labor, joined by 24 other AFL and CIO leaders including Walter Reuther, is here to map the free world's counter-offensive against the Soviet's efforts to use world labor as a revolutionary force.

THIS sophisticated in-fighter against Soviet agents and tactics know what it has taken over intelligence forces so long to learn — that labor, especially industrial labor, is the chief target of Communist strategy in Western Europe.

I asked the AFL president to explain the purpose of this world conference and who was represented.

Here is his statement: "Free labor is mobilizing worldwide resistance here against the triple-threat of Communism — war, infiltration and the suppression of human rights," Mr. Meany said.

"The third World Congress of the International Confederation of Free Trade Unions, now in session, speaks with the voice of 54 million workers from 73 countries. They constitute an army of free workers, loyal to the cause of democracy.

"Through this international organization, the American Federation of Labor seeks to promote world peace — without appeasement and without compromising the principles of justice.

"THE ICFTU is dedicated to strive for an ever-rising standard of living for working people everywhere, because only through social justice can the free way of life be made secure.

"It is undertaking an active program of helping to establish and strengthen free trade unions in under-developed nations because the free trade union movement is a nation's first line of defense against totalitarianism — whether Communist or Fascist.

"It is also giving strong support to colonial peoples in their struggle for self-determination, for independence and for liberation from exploiters.

"These are the main objectives of the ICFTU, and the AFL will ask this ICFTU Congress to take positive steps to implement them.

"AT FIRST glance, it would seem that the free trade union movements of America would have little if anything to gain from associating with this world labor organization. The standards we have established in our country are far and away higher than anywhere else in the world.

"But labor in America is not isolationist. It is realistic. We know that what happens to workers in Europe, Asia, Africa and South America will eventually and inevitably affect what happens to us.

"Certainly, the Communists know this. Short of war, their most effective imperialistic weapon has been to infiltrate and win control over the labor movements of free nations.

"IN CZECHOSLOVAKIA they proved that this was an easy stepping stone to political control and extension of the Iron Curtain.

"The ICFTU is working to stop

"Golfing, swimming, tennis, and all you do is work crossword puzzles—you might as well have stayed at the office!"

the spread of Communism by preventing subversion of labor.

"Already, in its short span of existence, the ICFTU has been notably successful.

"In France, Italy and other nations, the challenge of free labor has stunted the growth of Communist-dominated labor fronts.

"In Asia and in underdeveloped areas, the development of free labor movements is outstripping rival Communist elements.

"The effectiveness of the free trade union movement in these directions has been enhanced by its exposure of conditions behind the Iron Curtain — the slave labor camps, the suppression of basic freedoms, the low economic standards of Communist workers and the oppressive conditions under which they are forced to work.

"BY DRIVING these facts home, we are convincing free workers everywhere that Communist promises of bread and security are worthless and hypocritical.

"We have apparently helped to convince thousands of workers behind the Iron Curtain that their lot is intolerable.

"President Eisenhower and other leaders of the free world have given public and repeated recognition to the value of the services rendered by free labor in the crucial struggle to preserve peace and human liberty.

"We hope that free labor will be accorded the opportunity in the future to fulfill a wider and even more effective role, because we are in direct contact with the great masses of the people in every key section of the globe. We can talk to them in a language they understand.

"We can give them convincing proof of the progress that labor can achieve under the free way of life.

"We can and will offer them a helping hand in seeking to attain the same kind of progress for themselves."

Business Signs Still Strong

Boom Continues To Show Even Trend

NEW YORK (AP)—The big debate today is whether business is about to tilt downward. The stock market appears to think that a Korean truce, coupled with Russian internal weakness, would turn the trend and give the boom its coup de grace.

But most businessmen say they don't go along with this view. And many others stress the continuing momentum of the boom.

"If a boom is at a crest, it is stubbornly refusing to get on with the business of receding," says Albert T. Sommers, business analyst for the National Industrial Conference Board.

"There has yet to appear any statistical evidence outside of stock and commodity markets, that business expectations for the near term have as yet been much altered."

Those who believe a downward tilt will be apparent by the end of the year point, however, to several first signs:

Home building is easing up a little. Mortgage money is hard to find in some localities and financing costs are higher. Older houses are easing in price and new ones are a little slower in selling.

Steel output is slumping a little, as usual in summer, and while a pickup is expected next month, few steelmakers predict that the second half production can equal the first half's record.

Slipping farm income is cutting demand for farm machinery and may be accounting for some drop in household appliance output.

Automakers plan a record output this month, but many used car dealers say sales are disappointing.

Korean truce talks and the confusion over what the Kremlin's inner turmoil holds in store lead many businessmen to fear further cutbacks and cancellations of defense orders here. That could lower industrial production and might cost some jobs.

But Sommers points out that as of now most signs are still strong. First — half corporation profit statements, now rolling in, look good. For the third quarter at least steel order books are bulging. Consumer demand for goods held strong in June. Soft goods manufacturers report ordering by merchants is good.

Advice To The Bride

By HAL BOYLE

(Editor's note: After curing her husband of honeymoon blues, the bride's biggest problem is to set the family finances straight. But how? In the following article, second of a series, some veteran husbands advise June brides how this can be done painlessly.)

NEW YORK (AP)—The big problem of a June bride in July, when the honeymoon is over, is to teach her husband he can't throw away his money the way he did when he was courting her.

Her task in at least two out of three American homes is to take over the spending of the major part of the paycheck herself.

How can she do this without starting a civil war in the home—or without leaving her husband secretly feeling he wedded a lady con artist?

I asked a group of older married men how they would advise a bride on this problem. They expressed flat disbelief that any woman, even a tender bride, would listen to advice on matrimony from any man. But they were flattered at the idea—strange as it seemed to them.

They divided into two camps. "The best thing for her to do is to let her husband handle the money until the landlord threatens to throw them out because they are behind in the rent, an auto loan company repossesses their car, and the department stores cut off their credit," was one view. "Then he'll be glad to turn the family finance over to her."

Those in the second camp thought this made about as much sense as the theory that the best way to cure an ache in the toe is to hit yourself over the head with a hammer.

"The thing for the bride to do is to take over the handling of her husband's income gradually," said one old-timer. "A newly married man is jealous of his money, because he has been used to spending it himself."

"You have to break him to the harness gradually, just as you do a colt. A horse gets so he has to take the harness. But if a wife breaks her husband in too fast he will resent her and the harness, too, all his life."

His fellow wise men nodded gravely.

The best way is for the bride to divide the dough into three piles each payday — one pile for him, one for another, and one for her. "Naturally, her own pile at the start will be so small that even her husband will object that it's unfair."

"But as he gets used to letting her pay the bills, she gradually changes what's in the piles. She begins to put more $5 bills at the bottom of her pile, more $10 bills in the middle pile, and more $1 bills on her husband's pile. Before long he will be asking her for lunch money three days before payday, and never know really what's happened to him. It's the old shell game."

"That's right," said a third. "Another thing: She should keep a family budget book. It doesn't make any difference what she puts down in it. No husband can understand a woman's arithmetic. He just wants some evidence that she thinks she knows what she is doing."

A fourth elderly married man suggested the bride should never make a report on the family finances until after she had fed her suspicious hubby a big dinner.

"No man will start a quarrel about money when he has a full stomach—and his shoes are off," he said. "He doesn't have the strength."

The group then voted unanimously the following recommendations to brides:

All 4-H members interested in dairy judging will assemble at the H. B. Slagle and Son Farm at 10 a.m. The farm is located two miles south of Route 224 on Route 164 or the first farm north of West Reserve Road on Route 164. Jersey will be judged at Mr. Slagle's farm.

After a sack lunch, the group will go to the Wade Wehr farm to judge Guernsey cattle. From there the group will go to the Lauren Moff farm to judge Holsteins.

Elden Groves will be in charge of the training session.

All 4-H members, advisors and parents interested in dairying are invited.

Health To You

By EDWIN P. JORDAN, M.D.

After-Care of Polio Patient Helpful

More than half of the victims of poliomyelitis do not develop paralysis which requires after-care. What care is required depends, of course, on what muscles are affected and how seriously.

The first step in after-care, or treatment of polio after the disease has subsided, is to make sure that pain is relieved and to speed the release of muscle tightness.

Until this is done, proper motion of the involved part, usually arm or leg, is impossible. The relief of pain and relaxation of muscles is accomplished by the use of intelligently prescribed sedatives, heat, passive motion, and simply the passage of time.

As soon as it becomes possible, the effort is directed to stimulating muscular movements. This must be done with great care. In accomplishing it several measures, including massage, may be necessary.

Once the plan of action has been decided upon it is possible to proceed with the various measures that are necessary to bring about the greatest possible degree of muscular recovery.

Muscle strength is obtained by increasing the amount of activity slowly. This is done in many different ways and in many cases includes underwater exercises. Underwater exercise has been a great boon. The temperature of the water must be kept just right and the water itself supports the limbs so that they can be moved with much less effort than is necessary in the air.

Walking, when the patient is ready for it, has to be undertaken carefully and gradually. Sometimes support with braces is necessary. In mild cases, restoring the muscles may take only a few weeks; in the severe ones it takes much longer.

The improvement often continues for a long time; in fact, the amount of paralysis at the height of disease is almost always greater than it will be later on.

When improvement seems to have stopped, the final steps in after-care must be begun. This may involve surgery, such as the lengthening of a tendon.

At other times, special apparatus can be used or the patient may be taught to develop trick movements which really mean the substitution of one muscular group for another.

In all of these steps, patience, care and skill are important. The results are rewarding because most of those who have been crippled can be greatly improved and eventually become able to take part in many physical activities.

Those who work in this field are often amazed at the courage shown by such patients in overcoming their difficulties.

Red Attack

they did not seem in themselves any real peril to the Allied position, front-line reports said.

Red infiltration units were reported as much as four miles behind the Allied main line.

Reds Move Up Supplies

Light spotter planes that flew through rain and low clouds reported the Reds were shuttling artillery, supplies and fresh infantry toward newly occupied positions.

Bomb and rocket-laden planes, their engines warmed up, marked time for a break in the clouds to roar northward toward the swarming Chinese.

On the front, Allied forces were fully alerted for further Red assaults. Units were sorted out and redeployed over the bloodied sector east of Kumhwa to the Pukhan River.

Muddy roads were clogged with supply trucks headed toward the front.

Some exhausted soldiers sprawled out asleep on the ground. Others sat by the side of the road, opening blisters and washing swollen feet in muddy water.

Artillery fire fell off. American advisers with the ROKs said the Chinese apparently were moving up their artillery and mortars in support of new positions.

Gen Taylor was accompanied to the front by ROK Chief of Staff Gen. Sun Yup Paik, ROK Defense Minister Adm. Sohn Won Il and Brig. Gen. George C. Rogers, chief of the Korean Military Advisory Group.

The South Korean troops who bore the brunt of the Red attack received a personal message from President Syngman Rhee. He told his troops to stand firm and die if necessary to stop the Chinese invaders. He praised them for the fight they have made and exhorted them to even greater efforts.

During the day, rumors of a news "blackout" on the Kumsong battle spread through part of the 8th Army. It apparently was based on an Armed Forces Radio Service broadcast that used the word and the fact that the 8th Army briefing officer did not cover the Kumsong fighting in his regular morning press briefing.

Four South Korean divisions reeled under the huge Red attack that started just before midnight Monday, but fought back valiantly. Both sides suffered heavy casualties.

"This is the greatest achievement of the ROK Army," one high-ranking Allied officer said. "The four ROK divisions, with only partial help from American artillery and supply units, fought one of the great defensive battles and at noon it looks as if they had won it."

The 8th Army today removed from the "permissive list" all identification of units in the battle in an effort to confuse the Communists because of reshuffling and reinforcements.

However, it named the U. S. 45th Division as taking a small-scale attack west of Heartbreak Ridge.

way director to clearly define the procedure and basis on which allocation of tax funds were made to cover the expenditures of highway building and repair within District 11 since Sept. 1, 1949, to and including the 1952 allocation for the following:

$188,000, State Route 7; $209,000 at Summitville; $150,000 resurfacing various roads; $339,000, Routes 341 and 171; $2,500,000, Route 7, Wellsville; $720,000, Columbiana cutoff; $1,044,000, Route 62. All of the above, the wire stated, had been given priority over the Millville Hill and Route 14.

The wire to O'Hara demanded that the hill be improved along these lines — three bad curves lessened, three lanes for traffic, the bridge at the base of the hill widened and a good, hard surface berm applied.

Even if a by-pass around Salem is ever constructed, it stated, Route 14 will still be an arterial highway essential to the business of Salem, Columbiana, Leetonia and the vicinity, serving some 30,000 people, and should be made safe for traffic.

2 Men Involved With Girls Await Hearings

Two Columbiana County men are scheduled to receive hearings on Thursday before Juvenile Judge Louis Tobin on contributing charges.

Samuel Faloba, 24, of Hanoverton, RD 1, is charged with contributing to the delinquency of a 17-year-old Salem area girl reported missing from her home last Saturday.

The girl was located in Salem and is now being held by juvenile authorities.

Antiques Are Sought For Lisbon Display

LISBON — County Treasurer Vincent C. Judge made a final appeal today for residents in all parts of the county to donate antiques for display at a museum during Lisbon's Sesquicentennial opening Saturday.

Judge, who is chairman for the county's 150th Birthday celebration, said the museum at the McKinley School on Chestnut St. will be open every day of the village's celebration, scheduled to close on July 26.

Various communities are arranging exhibits of historical items. People who have old items but do not want to be bothered with collectors may leave the articles with Judge. He said they will be given a number and the owner will not be revealed.

One item already at the museum is an 1862 threshing machine owned by Frank Chandler of near Lisbon.

Judge said large items will be placed in a tent near the school. The Kiwanis Club announced it will have a survey — with a fringe — on - top to transport visitors from the public square to the museum.

Truce

Central Front indicates the Reds do not plan to sign a truce soon.

On the other hand, President Eisenhower's special truce emissary said as he landed in the United States last night that the agreement he reached with President Syngman Rhee "should assure the signing of an armistice if the Communists are sincere in their desire for peace."

"We could sign a truce tomorrow in good faith with the Communists," said Assistant Secretary of State Walter Robertson on his arrival at McChord Field, Wash.

Robertson is on his way to Washington, D. C., to report personally to President Eisenhower on his more than two weeks of conferences aimed at winning Rhee over to a truce.

Eisenhower himself was pictured by U. S. congressional leaders in Washington as believing a Korean truce is near. The lawmakers said the President and his military advisers regard the big Communist attack as an attempt to straighten out a bulge in the battle line rather than an effort to block a truce.

The Communist radio at the North Korean Capital of Pyongyang said last night that 90 per cent of the 27,000 anti-Communist North Korean war prisoners freed from Allied camps last month now are at Pohang, north of Pusan on the east coast.

The Red radio attributed its information to a special correspondent at Panmunjom.

The broadcast said that since the prisoners now are concentrated in one place, the Allied claim that they have melted into the civilian population and cannot be recaptured does not hold water.

The Reds have insisted on the recovery of these prisoners since the first big group fled from U. N. stockades on orders of President Rhee June 18.

Allied spokesmen declined to comment on the Red broadcast. A South Korean Defense Ministry official said some of the released prisoners are in the Pohang area. But he denied emphatically that 90 per cent of the 27,000 are there.

eral will take over its activities. Subversive organizations were outlawed. Public employees who refuse to answer questions of properly constituted committees or knowingly belong to subversive groups may be fired.

Motorists convicted of driving while drunk will have to spend at least three days in jail under a new state law.

The Republican-controlled Legislature quietly buried the Ohio Program Commission, a state planning group that Democrat Gov. Frank J. Lausche managed to control. Created in its place was the Legislative Service Commission under control of the General Assembly. The commission combined work of the program commission, Bureau of Code Revision, and Legislative Research Commission.

ern Europe and announced that if those countries achieve freedom the door to unity with the community now being created in Western Europe is open to them.

On Far Eastern problems, the three ministers announced that economic embargoes against Communist China would be continued indefinitely after an armistice and that the policy of barring Red China from the United Nations would continue pending further consultation.

To Work For Unified Korea

Britain and France joined with the United States in pledging to work for peaceful unification of Korea.

The three warned Red China against using prospective peace in Korea for new aggressions elsewhere in Asia.

House Votes $20,000 For Beaver Creek Dam

An item providing for $20,000 to build a dam on Beaver Creek at the Pine Ridge Camp near East Liverpool was included in the Aids and Betterment Bill which passed the Ohio House of Representatives last night.

The item providing for the dam was originally appropriated two years ago, but the Senate at that time deleted it from the bill. A conference committee was able to get the item restored and passed in the House last night.
